To: The Honorable Judge Denny Chin

I pray this letter reaches you in great health, and in a great positive spirit.

I'm in the middle of trying to move my father to Atlanta. He was attacked on the streets of Newark, N.J., by gang members , and hospitalized and loss the normal use of his legs. I have to take care of him because we cannot afford to put him in a senior citizens home at this time.

My mom also had a recent incident involving her health. So we just moved her to Atlanta. She was just in a situation where the family and I had lost contact with her for a while and when we found her she was not eating healthy or speaking logical and loss a dangerous amount of weight. The police found her in Washington, D.C. She lived in Pennsylvania, and had travelled by train to Washington because she had temporally lost her normal brain function.

She had a small attack of altzimers which runs in our family. So I had to move her with me so we can take care of her and make sure she don't wander off again.

My wife just gave birth August 2, 2011 to our 7lb 12 oz. boy he is our second child. Our first child we had together just turned 2 this April.
My son and I have a wonderful relationship, unlike me and my father had when was growing up, and I'm proud to have broken the cycle and to be able to have been there for my son in his life at his young age.
